Aqua study financed

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTON BEACH — Village officials have upped their investment by 90 percent, agreeing to pay the full $50,000 needed for the feasibility study for the St. Louis Aquacenter.

Previously the village had committed only to a $5,000 contribution toward the study.

The money will not be expended by village taxpayers, but will come from Tax Increment Financing bonds, Mayor Glen Wilson said.

Interest in village property is high and construction of an Aquacenter would enhance the cultural, social and educational environment, officials said.

"Attracting developers to the area is the key to our growth," Wilson said. "We have the space and the interstate (highway) systems close by and people are interested," he said.

Because more than four acres of village-owned land offered free to the Aquacenter developers is in the Tax Increment Financing District, the $50,000 will be added to the next bond sale for Phase III of the Chouteau Trace Redevelopment Area, it was explained.

Approval to continue the TIF redevelopment area into its Phase III stage did not pass without disagreement, plus a few loud remarks and questions.

Some soothing and optimistic comments made by Leonard Sonnenschein, Aquacenter president, and David Thebeau, who owns land in the village, helped to smooth a brief debate.

"We are committed to try and go to this site. We'd like to be in the village of Ponton Beach," Sonnenschein said.

Trustees voting to authorize the village engineer to prepare plans for infrastructure work for Phase III of the Chouteau Trace I development, obtain bids for the project and include the $50,000 for the Aquacenter marketing study in the bond sale were Trustees Bob Abel, Louis Whitsell, Irene Karlechik and Marvin Rubbing.

Voting against the proposal were Trustees Loren Madison

Other parties showing interest in development

PONTON BEACH — Citicorp banks has been asked to relocate its headquarters from Chesterfield to Illinois, and while Ponton Beach would like to become the site of such an operation, a bank official says no such decision is imminent.

Ponton Beach property owner David Thebeau added some fuel to the growth-craze fire Tuesday night during discussion of the St. Louis Aquacenter when he speculated that Ponton Beach would also make an ideal site for Citicorp.

He said the company may be interested in Illinois land on which to construct a 700,000-square-foot office building.

"I've learned that Citicorp has to expand its office space in Chesterfield, and if they decide to move from St. Louis County to Illinois, an incredible number of jobs would be created. It could mean as many as 5,000 jobs and they appear to be interested in moving," Thebeau said.

However, Betsy Martin, a staff vice president of public relations at Citicorp, was less enthusiastic.

"All I can tell you at this point is we have received a proposal to move our offices. We receive these on a regular basis," she said.

She did not know who made the proposal and was unable to locate the information before press time. She declined further comment.

Ponton Beach is the site of much speculation these days. Recently it was learned that developers are pushing the idea of a 200-acre retail project near the Interstate 270-Illinois 111 interchange.

Mathis Properties, a development firm from St. Louis, is working with builder Ralph Korte Construction in an attempt to lure big-name retailers to that area, said Dan Kempf of Mathis.

"We're working with Korte in a joint venture ... We've had people come into town and look at it, but it will take a big player to make that kind of commitment," Kempf said.

Kempf said development plans are very sketchy. "We're just now doing the feasibility study as to whether or not the area can even do it."

He said the area is too advantageous to stay undeveloped for long.

Lucas said all lots are sold in the Phase II section of Chouteau Trace development. Included are individual residences, multifamily housing and a Developmentally Disabled facility.

"I think it's really exciting," Sonnenschein said of the board's decision to finance the total cost of the marketing study.

"This is a positive step for the area," Sonnenschein said.

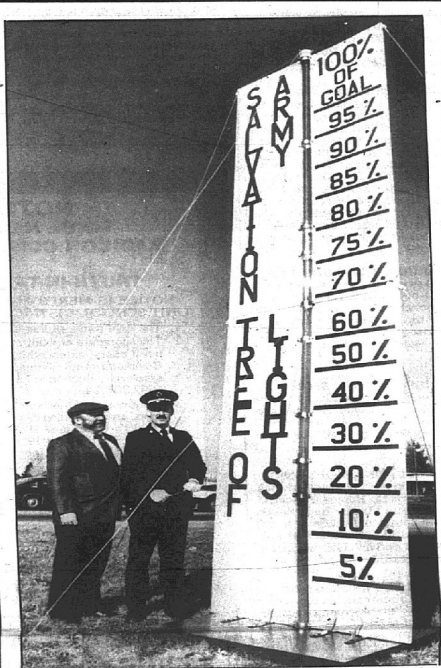

and Robert Douglas.

Phase III infrastructure work includes designing and constructing streets, a sewer system and water lines.

"We have an opportunity here and we have enough bonding power to include the $50,000," said Whitsell, chairman of the TIF Commission.

"You're talking about a development that could put Ponton Beach on the map and this is a good way that wouldn't cost the taxpayers," he said.

Stan Lucas, whose company BTL Enterprises is developing Chouteau Trace, said the project will support the bonds authorized.

MARKING THE PROGRESS: Fred McColgan, left, a member of the Salvation Army advisory board, and Capt. Curtiss Hartley mark the first Tree of Lights update Tuesday afternoon. The 1989 campaign thermometer is in front of the National Food Store at Madison Avenue and Namekoi Road. The thermometer was designed and built by Gene Fox, maintenance supervisor at the Tri-City Port District.

Staff cuts shouldn't hit depot

ST. LOUIS — Civilian personnel cuts by the U.S. Army Aviation Systems Command should not affect the Price Support Center in Granite City.

"At least I can't see how they would," said Bob Hunt, AVSCOM spokesman. Staff reductions have been rumored but not announced officially.

"Granite City is under us, but it's where our military personnel live, where they have their commissary and PX. The cuts being reported would not affect military personnel, so the impact there could not be substantial. Layoffs don't affect military personnel."

Published reports have said AVSCOM has proposed major personnel cuts as a result of the recently passed federal budget. AVSCOM, it is reported, faces severe funding cuts at best and, at worst, dissolution.

"All I can do is speculate," Hunt said. "Until we know more about the budget, Congress has passed the budget and the President has signed it, but we don't know what our specific share will be yet."

"There is a total, of course, but it's being divided up by the Department of Defense, then the Department of the Army, and then the Aviation Command — our boss."

Earthquake forecasts here selling insurance

By Andy Slering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — In the wake of the San Francisco earthquake Oct. 17 and publicity about the likelihood of a major quake here, insurance agents have been writing a number of earthquake riders to existing policies and fielding a rash of inquiries.

Last weekend, newspapers and TV reported that a New Mexico climatologist was predicting that the New Madrid fault in southern Missouri and Illinois would produce an earthquake on exactly Dec. 3, 1990.

State Farm agent Ed Nichols of Granite City got two calls on Monday morning alone, after the accounts. Nichols had already sold more than 30 riders since the San Francisco area quake.

Farmers Insurance agent Wilma Large had a local company Monday call to add it to its insurance, and another company called to make sure it had earthquake coverage.

Large said she had taken almost 40 calls since October and had written about 10 earthquake riders.

Country Companies agent Christy McDaniel of the Harold Krohne Agency said about one-eighth of all their clients had inquired about, for a total of 45 inquiries and 15 riders.

The policies offered by the insurance companies are similar in price, generally about 50 to 55 cents per thousand dollars for a brick structure and 25 to 35 cents for a frame structure. Frame structures are less susceptible to damage.

But there are other differences. Some companies, for example, limit the allowable deductible.

Farmers Insurance won't go under 5-percent deductible. Others, such as State Farm, won't insure a brick structure more than 40 years old, said State Farm's Ed Nichols.

Some experts said that people should check what is available from their present agent and then possibly shop around for the best deal.

Local agents said rates have not risen yet. That may change after the insurance companies assess the financial impact of the killer quake in San Francisco, analysts said.

District debates taxes

GRANITE CITY — One school board member wants to raise the district's tax levy next year, but other board members don't.

Tuesday night, Monroe Worthen, a 30-year veteran of the board, proposed hiking the 1990 levy by three cents by using a "back door referendum" that would allow the board to institute the increase without a vote. His motion died for a lack of a second from another member.

Worthen's motion would have increased the tax rate 37.5 cents to 40.5 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. Worthen said the district needs $1.2 million for asbestos removal and nearly $2 million for life safety improvements over the next several years.

Temporary tax increases imposed by the state for this school year and next may not be renewed by the General Assembly, he said, thus leaving the district having to transfer money from the education to the building fund to pay expenses.

"The legislature has finally given us the tool to bring our building fund assessment in line with those of other districts, and I think it's best that we do so."

Other board members said the move would not be fair to voters since the district is now operating in the black.

Under the backdoor referendum, the public would have had 30 days to gather signatures to force the issue to a March vote. Without signatures the measure would have automatically taken effect in 1990.

A public hearing on the levy is scheduled Dec. 14 at 6:30 p.m. in the board conference room.

Meeting on library district

GRANITE CITY — A special meeting of the City Council has been called for 6 p.m. today to consider formation of a Granite City Library District with an elected board.

The meeting was called by Mayor Von Dee Cruise at the request of the library board. Cruise said the library board has prepared a presentation on the topic for the aldermen.

A referendum to create the proposed library district will be voted on in March. Such a district would include Granite City and all areas outside the city in the District 9 school boundaries and not currently funded by a tax-supported library.

Under the plan, the library district would become a separate taxing unit instead of an element of the city government.

Philipians 4:13 "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

If this Scripture is true for Paul the Apostle, then it is true for us. We can do all things. This covers every situation, including your home, marriage, children, job, and any other activity.

We can do it through Christ. Not in our knowledge, our strength, nor our friends, but through Christ.

Christ is the way, the truth, and the life. He maketh a way where there seemeth to be no way. He that is in us is greater than he that is in the world.

Rehearse this Scripture every morning when you arise. Write it down on a piece of paper and carry it with you. In any situation you feel that you need strength, take it out and quote it. Believe it. Be ready to receive it! Christ will strengthen you! Today.

Corps speeds construction work to ease barge backup

ST. LOUIS — Construction work on the Mel Price Locks and Dam project between Mitchell and Alton is being accelerated to get the new main lock into operation ahead of schedule.

The St. Louis District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, has announced that the work is being speeded in order to relieve the extreme backup of barges waiting to transit the Alton area. As of that morning, 104 barges totaling 1,200 barges were waiting to lock through old Locks 26. This volume caused waiting times of five to seven days and added to the operating cost of the locks at a rate of about $250 per hour.

The expedited construction is intended to get the new lock in operation the first week in December, instead of mid-to-late December.

With the new, 1,200-foot lock in use, lockage times can be reduced to about one-third those required at the old, smaller lock. Several factors produced the current traffic jam. Chief among those factors is the limited capacity of old Locks 26. The main chamber there can accommodate a maximum of nine barges compared to 17 plus a towboat at the new lock.

This means a standard size tow of 12 to 15 barges currently must uncouple and lock through in two sections, which takes about 90 minutes. The new lock will handle a full tow in one lockage, taking about 30 minutes.

Beyond the limited capacity of old 26, simple aging is a complicating factor. Now nearly two years beyond its 50-year design-life, the old structure is regarded as worn out. Structural failures due to metal fatigue have occurred.

Santa Claus goes to college

Local children will have an opportunity to eat breakfast with Santa Claus on Saturday, Dec. 16, at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College.

The doors open at 8:15 a.m. Tickets are $2 per person and must be purchased in advance in the Cashier's Office at the Granite City Campus.

One adult must attend for every three children. Reservation deadline is Dec. 13.

In addition to breakfast and photo opportunities with Santa and Mrs. Claus, there will be storytelling and cartoons.

Ideal sites along new road

Extension of the newly completed I-255 to the north is good news for the Alton area, which has no link to the interstate highway system at present.

It also is good news for the local area — Pontoon Beach, Granite City, Mitchell, Madison and Venice. This community now will be served by interstate highways going in all directions, not just most directions.

Projects of this magnitude cannot be done overnight, but there is no doubt that it will be designed and built quickly. For several years, District Highway Engineer Dale Klorh has cited this 20-mile divided four-lane road as the most urgently needed in this region. He predicts that traffic volume will be greatly enhanced in western Madison County as a direct result of the improvement.

The route that was announced Monday will require the elimination or relocation of 110 homes, but it appears to be the best site to encourage economic development. It will link the I-270-I-255 junction here with Roxana, Wood River, Bellhale and Illinois 267 north of Godfrey.

The $200 million investment is substantial but seems sure to pay many dividends. The entire corridor, especially the 270/255 interchange in Pontoon Beach, is likely to attract a variety of construction, commercial and otherwise. And the tax base that finances governmental services will be strengthened considerably.

Joint-use role for St. Clair

The St. Clair County Board is performing a service for the Metro East portion and the entire St. Louis metropolitan area by taking the leading role in seeking joint civilian-military use of giant Scott Air Force Base.

The county government's efforts were evident Monday when the board honored Rep. Monroe Flinn, D-Cahokia, Sen. Ralph Dunn, R-DuQuoin, and Sen. Kenneth Hall, D-East St. Louis. They were praised for obtaining passage of three new Illinois laws:

• Authority for St. Clair to issue bonds for the airport project, currently estimated to cost $183 million. The joint-use approach is credited with lowering the cost dramatically, and much of the amount is to be repaid from federal sources.

• County authority to acquire land within a 90-day period while owners are challenging the price in court. The county is required to find a suitable place of equal value for any residents relocated.

• Authority for the county building commission to oversee airport construction, rather than a new airport entity.

An environmental study by the Air Force is next. The end result can be Lambert/Scott facilities together enabling greater St. Louis to stay viable in competing with other regions for future business and residential growth.

A bush leaguer makes out

Let's see. If memory serves, when I left Little League after six years of play, I had a lifetime .096 batting average, 3 RBIs and held the record for most errors in one inning by a leftfielder, an achievement that still stands to this day.

That means I had I stuck with the game, rather than go through with seventh grade, I could have eventually declared free agency, and today, I would be worth $2.6 million a year to the Texas Rangers.

It's always nice to bring up the national pastime in the dead of winter, particularly this week while the topic is hot. But then, money is always a hot topic, isn't it?

Fans were set on their ear again this week, first when Kirby Buckett signed a $3-million-a-year, multi-year deal with Minnesota; then when Tony Pena took last year's $259 average in Boston and Montreal for only $2 million a year.

There are some who'll argue that a baseball player should be paid for his value, much like a celebrity. But unlike movie stars, whose salary goes down proportionately to the sag of their box office appeal, baseball players are assured of big bucks for longer periods, with no guarantee that they'll perform up to anyone's expectations. This situation is not likely to change soon, not as long as team owners are getting fat TV contracts and ongoing ticket-cost increases. Truth is, not one of the major league's 30 teams lost money last year. Fans did.

I keep coming back to the fact that there are a lot more heroic figures in the world, average guys who make average wages, work hard and never take advantage of the system.

I cringe to think, but if I took my present salary I would have to work until the year 2060 just to make what Tony Pena is getting to me in 1990.

Gone are the days of heroes who played the game more for the love of the competition than for the few dollars they were paid. What I'd like to see is a ball player who knows his worth. "Pay me the minimum my first year," he would say, "and I'll settle for cost of living and an occasional merit increase the next 10 years."

Now that's my idea of a hero. Frankly, I'm glad I went through with seventh grade.

Our veterans should not be taken for granted

To the editor:

Just the other day I was wandering through one of the local stores in Nameeki Village Shopping Center and overheard a young man make a remark to another person that Veteran's Day was just another holiday.

I hesitated for a moment, and thought to myself... if you only knew, sonny... if you only knew. Just what so very many of us veterans lived through and are still living with today.

Then maybe, just maybe, you and so many others would understand and appreciate the significance of this day a whole lot more.

I left the store and my route home took me past the recently dedicated memorial in the park across from St. Elizabeth Medical Center. I stopped, got out of my van, and began to read some of the names from the Vietnam War.

Then those words I'd heard earlier hit me again, "dumb holiday." I didn't think so. Not then and certainly not now.

From Flanders Fields to the Ardennes, to the Sands of Iwo Jima, the Battle of the Bulge, to Pork Chop Hill and Heart Break Ridge to the Frozen Cho Sun. From the Long Valley to LZ's, like Alfany, English, X-Ray, Bong Son and so many, many other places. And of the sacrifices for the freedom that we have today, that so many take for granted.

This is some of what Veteran's Day means to me.

So, Mr. Editor, and the rest of you, take some time out to think about it. And when you lie down to sleep at night, thank the Lord for his guiding light; pray that the world turns out right. With all your worries or regrets, bow your head, America, and say a prayer for your veterans.

DAVID HAYS
Madison, Vietnam veteran

Says that man cannot live on low raises alone

To the editor:

I am writing with concern over the raise the elected representatives brought in to vote on and President Bush approved.

President Bush received a 31 percent pay raise and vetoed the original minimum-wage raise for citizens, later approving a lower raise.

I am appalled. What is his reasoning about the people who try to live on several dollars an hour?

Why don't they get an immediate raise instead of gradual raises over a period of time? Why couldn't he have approved their plan of a 31 percent raise to be phased in gradually over a two-year period? It seems that if it is good enough for the gander it is good enough for the goose.

It would be interesting to see if the people work ethic. Would they block or approve this kind of raise could live on $3.50 an hour and if they could be forced to experience the wage of a widow woman like me who has to live on the Social Security benefit of $500 a month. Then let us vote "walked in our shoes."

Make my day and print this in your paper.

MRS. B. DAVIS
Granite City

American people, not Congress, should prevail

To the editor:

We citizens believe that Congress should be controlled by us, just like we citizens should control all governmental bodies in this nation. Stop their tyranny.

Congress members do not need a raise to give them more income to keep this high-priced society rolling. If the members of Congress would refuse to pay the high housing costs in Washington, D.C., the housing costs would not escalate, but decline.

We citizens must continue to tighten the reins on Congress and all governments in these United States of America. Did we tell Congress that they could vote themselves pay raises? No.

They don't even want a poor man to earn $5 per hour. But they want to live in luxury at our expense. That is not what we elected them to do.

Less government seen as key to economic issues

To the editor:

Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Bellefonte, hit the headlines last week. His efforts to improve the southern region by promoting rural economic development show how a professional leader with the proper experience can do wonders for the traditional democratic politics, which "Hon. est Abe" first taught Illinoisans.

Jerry is the only man with the background and experience capable of answering the district's needs. As a pro-family advocate, he has proven that we have morally good Democrats in office just as we have morally good Republicans in office.

Most important, Jerry favors less government control over private lives and industry. He believes in honest merit to promote developments for the entire region and encourages the good old honest work ethic.

Less government control is the key to restoring our U.S. economy and the traditional teachings of Illinois' politics. Jerry needs our support as we move into the 1990s. Please help Rep. Jerry Gonzalez, D-Texas, and the Costello campaign to regulate and improve the Savings and Loan Industry (SLI) in behalf of poor and middle-income homeowners nationwide.

Vote for the best "constitutional conservative" leader, Costello, in the next general election.

My view of the future is getting much brighter as my vision improves

The Thanksgiving-to-Christmas holiday season is a time of thankfulness and good cheer. These are my feelings as I take keyboard in hand to write this week's column.

My initial thought centers on the election of Dr. Edward Doisy III as chief of surgery at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

I'm not surprised at this high honor and responsibility for him; 1989 has shown me he is an adept surgeon with a reassuring manner, wholly dedicated to the welfare of his many patients.

I also was operated on in this decade once by the gifted team of Dr. Robert Lay and Dr. Frank Dionea, and viewed by the highly skilled Dr. Enrique Perinetti.

Dr. Terry Randall, chief of anesthesiology, once put me to sleep, and Dr. Dionea, chief of family practice, is my family doctor.

In the course of a lifetime, one comes in contact with a wide range of health specialists. For example: a truly painless dentist, Dr. Chris Geroff.

The list of my doctors is too long to mention in its entirety, dating back all the way to the beloved local family physician, the late Dr. E.M. Arnovitz.

CHANGING TECHNOLOGY and techniques in the medical/hospital field sometimes are linked to rises in health-care costs. But it is hard to find fault with the fact that expertise continues to advance and evolve.

A few years ago, cataract operations required a week or more of total bed rest. Sandbags were put against the sides of the patient's head to prevent him from moving even a little bit. Now, such surgery is performed on an outpatient basis. You arrive at the hospital in the morning and walk out in the early afternoon.

RESTRICTIONS are still necessary for recuperating patients. Don't lift anything heavy, don't bend over, don't cough, don't sneeze... But it's not bad at all when you compare it with the past procedure.

Bill Winter

Such breakthroughs pose this question to the ailing: Was I born in the wrong generation? If I had waited a few years to be born, would they have devised a cure for whatever illness that might develop?

On the other hand, cost factors, health insurance rules, federal reimbursement limits and other circumstances create the opposite concern: Was I born too late? Will this generation or the next see needed care move out of one's reach, either geographically or financially?

Will governmental penny-pinching put most hospitals out of business? Will malpractice-insurance costs persuade most doctors to close their offices?

CLEAR, IN-FOCUS vision is one of the most important of all health attributes, even though those with good sight may not realize it.

A current commercial says, "It's not just a car; it's your freedom." That's just your vision; it's your freedom.

Particularly in my line of work, it's vital to be able to read — books, magazines, reports and newspapers. I've been able to do that fairly well, except for a few weeks during which I became convinced that keeping up with modern times through television alone isn't adequate.

It's also not good enough to rely on others for your transportation, no matter how helpful family, friends and taxicab drivers are; there is nothing quite like being able to move about when you want to, by driving rather than riding.

COMPUTER TERMINALS are said to speed up, if not cause, eye problems. I don't know if that's true, but I've used them a lot. We switched from typewriters in the 1970s.

Actually, our 8 1/2-inch computer screens have been a blessing in recent months. They are adjustable in several ways, and have letters nearly a quarter-inch high.

With the cataracts gone, the whole world is a lot brighter to me and for me. As the healing process continues, enhanced vision may become a reality.

BECAUSE I'M SO near-sighted, I'm probably never going to easily pick out the faces of strangers, or even friends, across a crowded room, no matter how "enchanted" the evening might be, Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein notwithstanding.

But I'm not in politics, so it probably isn't essential that I read nametags or scan faces rapidly enough that I can sort out everyone's identity instantly.

I know many people and I do want to be friendly, even if I walk right by you.

And I'm mighty pleased to number among my friends doctors like those named, whose careers and whose hospital reflect "commitment to serve all people as an extension of Christ's love for humanity."

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

The purpose of a closing argument in a trial is to allow the attorney to summarize his case and attempt to convince the jury to decide the case in a particular way. Several Illinois cases stand for the proposition that closing arguments are not to make reference to a defendant's possible criminal conduct in the future. To suggest future criminal conduct could be regarded as reversible error on appeal and result in the jury's verdict being overturned.

The defendant's attorney objected to the comments made by the State's Attorney. He argued that the statement made reference to the defendant's possible criminal conduct in the future, namely that of driving while under the influence.

The Appellate Court noted that the State's Attorney evidently decided to "throw care to the wind" in his rebuttal argument. The Court stated that it was tempted to find reversible error in this closing argument. The Appellate Court felt that the trial evidence did not justify an inference that the defendant would engage in criminal conduct in the future and that such speculation was improper.

Should an Appellate Court reverse a jury's findings when such prejudicial remarks are made? These decisions must be made on a case by case basis. In this matter, the Appellate Court felt that considering the closing argument as a whole, the parts presented for review did not so substantially undermine the fairness of the trial as to warrant a reversal. Therefore, the Court affirmed the conviction of the defendant for driving under the influence of alcohol.

Lady Warriors whip Tigers; improve to 3-0

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — It could be time for a changing of the guard.

While the Lady Warriors have struggled for respectability in recent years, the Edwardsville Tigers have been among the elite in area girls basketball. But the role reversal was plain Wednesday at Memorial Gymnasium as Granite City won its third game in as many nights, 70-55 over the crippled Tigers (1-3).

After getting only eight points in the first half, senior center Jennifer Cavaness exploded in the second half and finished with 30 points, her second 30-point effort in as many nights. She had 32 in a 67-38 win at Alton on Tuesday.

But the real sign that the Lady Warriors (3-0) might be ready to make a move was the support Cavaness got. Senior guard Kim Pawlak pumped in 15 points while senior forward Priscilla Meyenburg added 13. And when the Tigers tried to press after getting as close as six points in the third quarter, the Lady Warriors beat the press handily and opened up a safe margin.

"We played a little better tonight," but I'm still not pleased," said Granite City coach Allen Lobdell. "We still panic a little at times. We have the players who can make the plays, but they have to remember to pass the ball and keep moving to consistently get away from pressure."

GRANITE CITY TUESDAY
ALTON 9 4 12 10-38
GRANITE CITY: Cavaness 32, Bequette 10, Pawlak 15, Cline 5, Syles 5, Meyenburg 3, Lantz 2. FG-24, FT-11, PF-10.
ALTON: Lewis 9, Clarke 10, Jackson 7, Gray 6, Lantz 4, Canale 10, Collins 2. FG-19, FT-7, PF-18.

EDWARDSVILLE WEDNESDAY
GRANITE CITY 7 18 15 17-63
EDWARDSVILLE: Jackson 17, O'Spith, Meyer 12, Hestlin 10, Leung 10, Lawrence 2, Price 2, Thrus 2. FG-24/71 (1 3-point), FT-9, PF-8.
GRANITE CITY: Cavaness 30 (11 rebounds, 4 steals, 8 blocks), Pawlak 15 (4 steals), Meyenburg 13, Bequette 8, Lantz 2, Syles 2. FG-21/74, FT-12, PF-14.

Edwardsville coach Dave Tissier was suitably impressed. "We've already played Belleville East and West, but Cavaness and Pawlak are the two best players I've seen," he said. "We did a pretty good job on Jennifer in the first half, but we only shot 25 percent."

Granite City jumped out to an 18-7 lead in the first quarter as Meyenburg got open easily and hit three jump shots. The Tigers came back in the second quarter behind the outside shooting of Kim Jackson (17 points), then Heather Haskins' basket made it 41-35 with 3:10 left in the third quarter.

"One more basket and I would have called timeout," said Lobdell. "But I felt like they had already made their run, and then we started to break their press a little better."

Addie Lenzi hit Meyenburg with a nice pass for a layup, then Pawlak fed Meyenburg for two more. Cavaness scored and Michelle Bequette scored on a rebound and suddenly it was 55-

42. "When they cover Jennifer, it doesn't take away all our weapons," said Lobdell. "Pawlak was the leading scorer around here her first two years, but she was kind of forgotten last year."

"I was pleased we were able to come back and make it a game," said Tissier. "Cavaness is an all-state player. And she opened it up in the last three minutes when she shouldn't have been in there. I've had all-state players and they should come out late so they don't get hurt."

"Granite City will be able to compete with Belleville West and East if they get support from the forwards (Meyenburg and Bequette) like they did tonight. They have a good shot at it."

Edwardsville is without 6-2 center Jenny Linafelter and Cathy Gusewelle, both out for the season with knee injuries. A third potential starter opted not to play this season.

"This isn't going to be our year, but we're not going to cancel the season," said Tissier. "If I had more players, I would have stuck somebody on Pawlak. As it was, we had a point guard on Cavaness. That's not enough."

"We have to feel good about winning three games in three nights," said Lobdell. "And beating Edwardsville will give them confidence. I'm still learning on the job, too. It's one thing watching basketball on TV, but it's another thing to be out there coaching."

So far, so good.

Small Red Devils will run

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

VENICE — Clinton Harris thinks the opposition is thinking exactly what he wants them to think.

The Red Devils have been one of the area's glamour Class A teams for the past four years or so. Jesse Hall and Co. won a state title in 1987, then players like Dale Turner, Daryl Jackson and Hosea King kept Venice in the spotlight the past two seasons.

Now all those players are gone. Harris and assistant coach Rick Everage believe the rest of the area might be taking the Devils a bit lightly. And that's understandable, since Venice will play most games with no one standing over 6-1. But anyone who takes the Devils too lightly could be in for an exhausting night.

"We're going to bring out the running game more this year," said Harris, who begins his seventh season at Venice with an amazing 135-34 record (.798 winning percentage). "This is more like the team I had when I first got to Venice. We have mostly guards, but everybody can shoot, we'll play tough defense and run all night."

The Devils ran a lot in recent years, but talents like Hall (now a junior at Michigan State), Turner (sophomore at Northern Iowa), Jackson and King (BAC) allowed them to set up more on offense. Now junior Erwin Claggett — mostly an outside threat last year — is Venice's biggest starter at 6-1.

"Erwin will have to play all positions," Harris said. "We have other people who can shoot outside."

Claggett averaged 14.5 points last year while shooting 55 percent from the floor, including 52.9 percent (5-9) from three-point range. Probably starters for tonight's opener at Columbia include 5-8 senior John White (3.5 points per game last year), 5-8 senior Doug Johnson (4.0 points), 6-1 sophomore Ivan Johnson (Doug's brother), 6-2 sophomore Ben McIntyre and 6-2 junior Reno Mosby.

Clinton Harris
... 135-34 in 6 years

One player who won't be back is Deves Farran, a good defensive player and outside shooter who would have been a senior. He joined the Army, however.

Others who figure to see plenty of playing time include 6-1 senior Charles Miller, 5-9 senior Charles Love, 6-0 senior Myron Brent, 5-9 junior Winston Webb, 5-10 junior Leo Glasper and 5-11 junior Ariel Lyons.

"I want Doug and John to be coaches on the floor because they're seniors," said Harris. "They've been on the varsity for three years, so they know what I expect of them. They were laid back a little last year, but they've been leaders in practice so far."

"Reno is probably our best defensive player and Ivan should lead the team in rebounding. All of these guys will play. We'll use all 12 and maybe a few guys from the junior varsity could move up before the year is over."

Harris will need all the bodies he can get in what figures to be a fast-paced season.

"We'll press full-court and work hard," he said. "We run before practice, during practice and after practice. We're not in top shape yet, but if anyone gets tired we'll have someone ready to come in for him. It will be more of a team effort this year."

After winning three straight regionals, the Devils (20-7) were upended in the regional finals by now-defunct East St. Louis Assumption last winter. Harris has won at least 20 games each of the last five years after winning 19 his first season (1982-83) after coming to Venice from Lovejoy High School in Brooklyn.

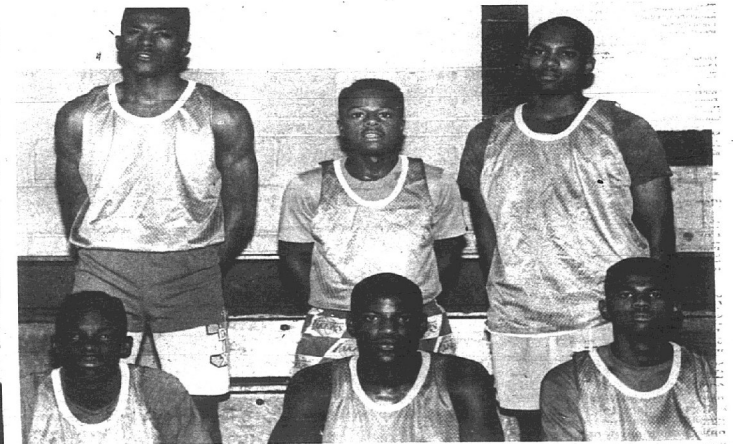

"Our goal is to win 20 games and the regional again," Harris said. "Everybody wants to play us now that we don't have as much size. But we won't back down from anybody."

East St. Louis and three-time defending Illinois Class AA champion East St. Louis Lincoln are on the schedule along with Alton, yet another Class AA school. All three of those games are on the road.

"Teams might laugh at us when they see us come in, but they might be in for a surprise," Harris said. "We might have a chance to knock off one of those teams."

"Teams like Columbia never used to want to play us," said Everage. "But now they do. This is more of a typical Venice team. Kids like Daryl (6-5) and Hosea (6-6) were the biggest kids at Venice probably since 1974 or so. We'll have a good season, probably 18-20 wins. And we would like to beat one of those three large schools."

It's full speed ahead starting tonight.

Trojans hope young lineup signals return to old days

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

MADISON — Al Collins will turn to youth in a search for the old days.

It could be an all-junior starting lineup for the Trojans when they open the 1989-90 season tomorrow night at home against Northwest High School of St. Louis. Collins, who saw Madison go 4-19 in his first season last year, will do anything to improve on that mark.

"I'm looking forward to this year after such a dismal season," he said. "It's a challenge to get this program back on the right track. The only program at Madison which has kept up its success recently has been girls track. We need to draw on that success and get back to where we were."

Actually, the Trojans won 20 games two years ago. But that was just an oasis in a desert of so-so seasons since the departure of Larry Graham in 1984. Collins isn't promising anything dramatic, but he's looking for more than four wins.

"Our goal is .500," he said. "And that would be quite an accomplishment with the schedule we have."

It's a schedule that includes Alton, Edwardsville, Venice, Cahokia, East St. Louis, Springfield Calvary, Lebanon, Okawville, Pinckneyville, Jacksonville, Belleville East and Teutopolis, just to name a few. The Trojans will also compete in the Collinsville Tournament at Christmas and the Belleville East Tournament in January, both of which feature mostly larger schools.

Trojans

"It would be nice to have some breakers along the way," Collins said. "But we won't schedule down just for that. The Venice game (Dec. 21) is the one the kids want to win. That would just about make their season. But it will be tough to win there, and (Venice) still has the edge because they've won so much in the last few years."

If the Trojans take some more lumps this season, they should have some hardened veterans next year. Only 6-3 Gerald Griggs is a senior among the top six candidates for starting spots. Other likely starters are 6-2 Federico Walker, 5-11 Andre Mays, 6-2 Antonio Smith, 5-3 Brennan Wimberly and 6-1 Chris Griggs. All are juniors.

"A friend of mine was saying next year could be our year to beat up on people," said Collins.

"But we're working for now." Mays averaged 11.7 points last year despite missing much of the season with a leg injury problem. "I, Smith and Walker should provide the offense."

"Federico is a great athlete, but he needs to stay under control and avoid mental lapses," Collins said.

"Offensively, we're where we want to be. But we're not too good on defense yet and we're lazy on rebounding. Offense won't be enough to win with our schedule. We don't have the desire to play defense yet. We need to play with our feet instead of reaching in so much."

Others who could see playing time are 6-3 senior Gerald Hughes, 5-9 sophomore Ron Loft, 6-0 sophomore Willie Woodson and 6-3 freshman Tony Deal.

"We've conditioned hard, and the kids have more confidence in themselves than they did last year," Collins said. "But we'll just take it game by game. We can't set too many long-term goals yet."
